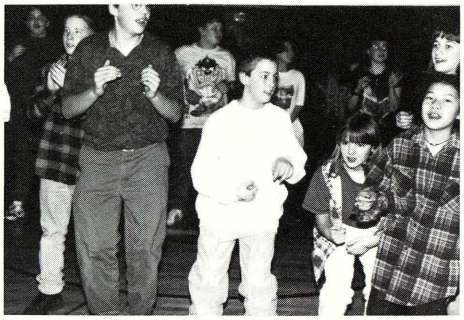
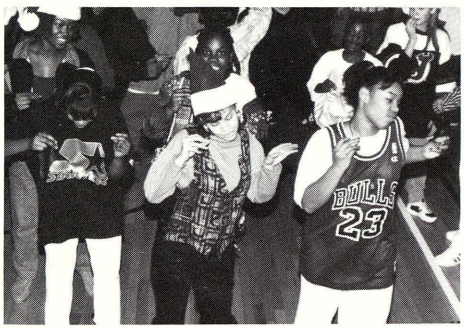
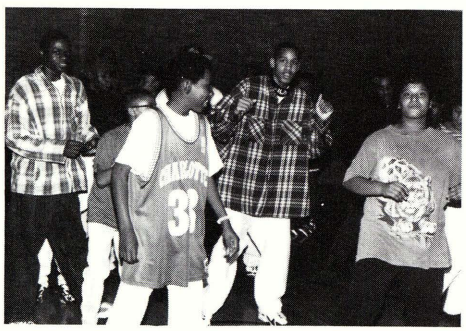
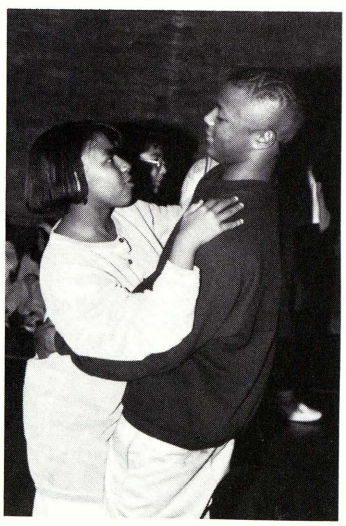
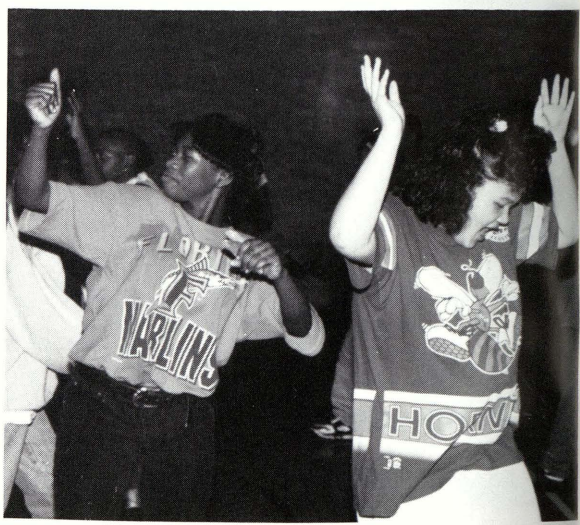
Scenes from South's Black History/honors assembly: the program included soloists, an interpretive dance, a rendition of Martin Luther King's "I Have a Dream" speech, and an uplifting talk by Judge Terry Clark. Honors students received pins. It was a memorable occasion.











Dances at South are after-school events for seventh and eighth graders. Dances are a great way for students to get together with friends, to release some pent-up energy, to enjoy the music, forgetting the classroom for a while — and to dance!
